Uncertainty and Fluctuation Give Way to Pronounced Strength

NEW YORK, April 5.—Standard shares, especially transportation, were the beneficiaries of today's stock market. Uncertainty and fluctuation gave way to pronounced strength in the final sales approximately 1,100,000 shares.

Prices moved irregularly upward at opening, but the variety of issues indicated another advance. Leaders of the market and industries were not materially changed. Active interest centered in the sugar, oil, and copper markets. The sugar market was better by 1 to 2 points. United States Steel and other shares showed fractional gains. The prominent stock to show decline was United Fruit, which declined 1/4 point.

A promise of another very busy day was not fulfilled. Trading during the morning fell away more than 50 per cent from Tuesday's enormous dealings. Specular features were altogether absent. Oil, copper, and sugar were the only metals which included advance. The market was better by 1 to 2 points. United States Steel and other shares showed fractional gains. The prominent stock to show decline was United Fruit, which declined 1/4 point.
